DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 14 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. The claim is merely functional in content and in no way further limits the claimed structure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-14 rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure, which defines the device, must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-3, as well as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kozak et al. (6,435,065).

Kozak et al. ('065) disclose a multi-purpose tool having a handle and a shank, the shank having a tip receiver for attaching different tool bits, and the handle includes elongate cavities on the exterior with elastic means for retaining a tool tip, and the cavity has an end slightly wider than the other end, and the bottom having a ramp such that the tip pivots when a fingertip pushes it.

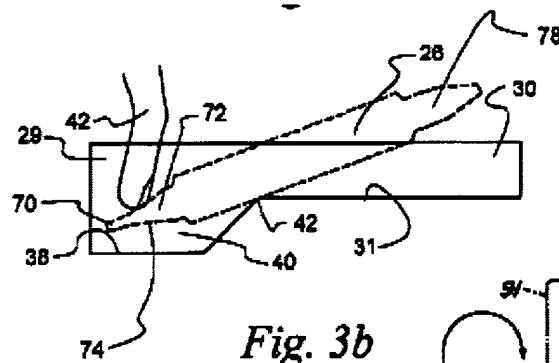

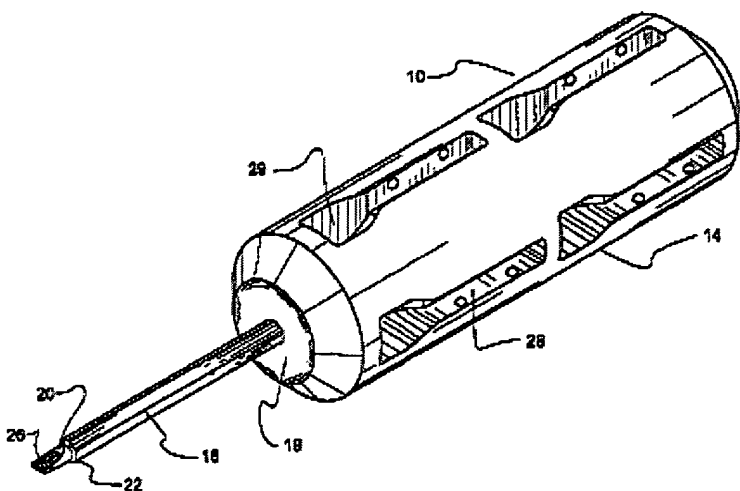

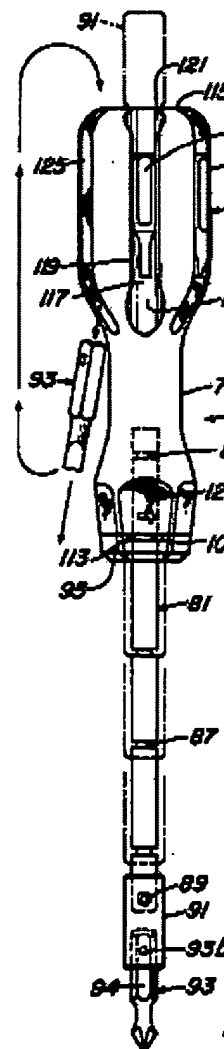

Fig. 3b

6. Claims 1, 2, and 4, as well as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Baker (6,029,549).

Baker ('549) discloses a multi-purpose tool having a handle and a shank, the shank having a tip receiver for attaching different tool bits, and the handle includes elongate cavities on the exterior with elastic means for retaining a tool tip, the elongated cavities bordering elongated open strips alongside each and two open ends each to provide means to extract the tips, either upward or downward.

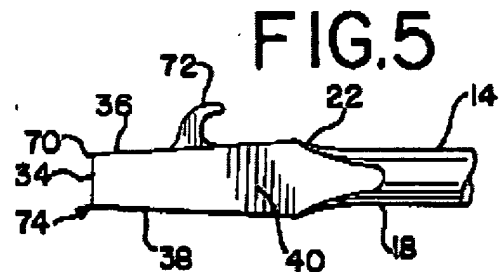

7. Claims 1 and 6, as well as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lassiter (5,974,916).

Lassiter ('916) discloses the wire nut driver as presently claimed.

8. Claims 1 and 13, as well as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Evling et al. (5,918,337).

Evling et al. ('337) disclose a multi-purpose tool having a handle including an elongated bar affixed at the center of the lower end of the generally cylindrical cross-section of the handle, extending coaxially downward, the bar having a bayonet steel form attached there, spaced a short distance apart from the bar.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 5 and 7-12 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

10. An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

Applicant is advised of the availability of the publication "Attorneys and Agents Registered to Practice Before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office." This publication is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Anderson et al., Chang, Cotter, daSilva, Dickens, Glover, Huang, Lin, Lowe et al., and Tsai each disclose a multi-purpose tool.
